

Shared leadership practiced by self-led teams with direction from the residents provides the heartbeat at the center of household life

Enjoying everyday life

The physical design of households must be supported by strong, healthy household teams, elder-directed daily life, organizational redesign and transformational leadership. Action Pact consultants pair extensive and first-hand knowledge of operation and transformation with resources and facilitation skills to help move your organization along its journey to households. Action Pact's Household Model™ training and consulting walks the organization through the model's many facets, involving everyone in creating and sustaining the profound change.

We help your organization make the most of its new environment. The Household Model™ must not only look like home, but feel like home.
